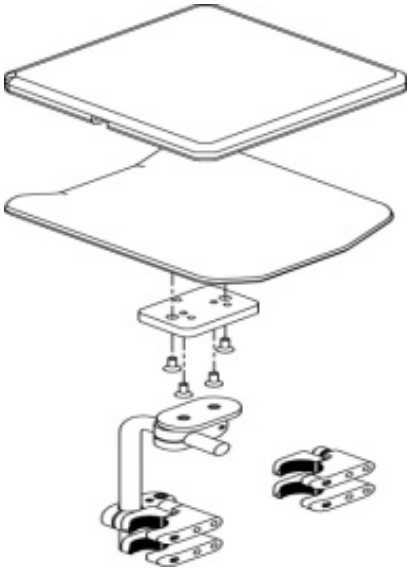
No need to feel stumped!!

Every clinician who prescribes a stump support typically deals with one or more of the following problems:

1. They are hard to install.
2. They lack multi-position adjustability.
3. They "migrate" from their set position.
4. They are hard to remove.

The Falcon™ stump support addresses all of these issues brilliantly. Rather than using a ball joint, which is difficult to manipulate, the stump support allows you to set each angle independently and once position is set, it stays precisely where you've set it. The design isolates every angle to a single joint thereby greatly simplifying the task of both adjustment and installation. Since the stump support fits the standard receiver, it can easily be interchanged with a standard leg rest when the client is wearing a prosthetic leg. Standard pad size is 7" x 7". Other sizes are also available.



Comes with multiple brackets to fit most popular tubing.
